1	When the weather is rainy and cold, she is driven in more often. When the weather warms up, she walks more to school.	2/25/2015 8:09 AM
2	we try and walk together most days or bike when it's nice. We use the car only in inclement weather.	2/24/2015 9:46 PM
3	He does walk home though.	2/15/2015 10:25 AM
4	Just want to clarify that i am always with my child. He is not yet walking/biking alone	2/10/2015 11:27 AM
5	My child is driven to school with a sibling carpool, but walks home alone every day. Main reason he doesn't do it in the mornings is hours of darkness, steep uphill terrain, and rain - after school he can change clothes and get dry, but before school he'd be wet and miserable. The way home is all downhill and occurs in the daylight. We also live a block from a sex offender house, which is another reason we prefer that he only walks in the daylight and on major arterials rather than side streets or alleys. His high school sister goes to school much earlier than him so she can't walk him to school, but she is home after school.	2/10/2015 8:56 AM
6	Mix of car and biking but no set or typical days, depends on how much time we have, the weather, where we need to go after, etc.	2/4/2015 8:52 PM
7	It wasn't totally clear to me on the previous page whether it was understand that "walking to school" meant with me (versus walking solo). At 6 I am not comfortable letting my kids walk solo (twins) but obviously have no concerns about walking there with them.	1/20/2015 9:14 AM
8	Biking varies depending on weather and parents workday.	1/18/2015 12:22 PM
9	This isn't entirely accurate as weather plays a huge part in this, when it is nice we walk or bike. When it is not we drive. We live just about a mile away and this school is not our neighborhood school.	1/12/2015 10:24 AM

1	We are on a tight schedule with working parents to utilize walking to school in the morning. If our schedule permits, we walk back from the after school program.	3/6/2015 4:13 PM
2	It's great now! Not sure that anything needs to change.	2/26/2015 4:35 PM
3	We need a cross walk at 82nd Street!!!! And for Bleachers Pub to do something about the people that hang out along the side drinking in the am and afternoon. I don't feel comfortable having kids walk home alone when they are older and them seeing them go into the house alone. At the very least, post a "no Loitering" sign!	2/26/2015 9:57 AM
4	We have both a 5th and a 3rd grade boy at Greenwood. We live only 4 blocks from school and have always walked with them. I would not consider letting them walk alone because they would have to cross Greenwood at 82nd street and it is extremely dangerous. There is no crosswalk and cars speed and do not consistently stop for pedestrians. We have been nearly hit both on foot and on our bikes crossing at 82nd and at 81st. This should be considered a school zone in my opinion and speed monitored.	2/24/2015 9:51 PM
5	Greenwood is a great neighborhood for pedestrians and bikes. The crossing guards are great.	2/20/2015 10:24 AM
6	Child does not walk alone	2/19/2015 12:27 PM
7	I did not know that biking to school was an option. It would be good to understand that procedure of where to park the bikes, what kind of locks are acceptable and the dismissal process if they ride their bike home after school.	2/19/2015 10:33 AM
8	There are no sidewalks from our house to 85th street. There are a lot of questionable people that hang out in the fred meyer parking lot across from the pot dealer on 85th that is on my daughter's route home.	2/18/2015 8:13 PM
9	We want our bus route back, please.	2/17/2015 9:35 AM
10	This year, 6 families within a block of us started walking to school together, with 2 adults walking each time and rotating days. The kids enjoy it and it has been very helpful for the parents.	2/10/2015 6:20 PM
11	The crossing guard is not there every day of te week on 80th & 3rd- which is truly frustrating. And the flags seem to have disappeared. Last year my daughter was actually hit by a car while crossing that intersection after school hours, even though she was obeying the rules of the road! It's a dangerous intersection and I can't believe a crossing guard can't be there every day.	2/10/2015 4:41 PM
12	Traffic at 80th and 3rd can be pretty intense. We rely on the light rather than a crossing guard. The main issue is that cars can turn right on red and may not be watching for small children.	2/10/2015 12:24 PM
13	While my child has walked to school none other of the question on this survey specify if he has walked ALONE. (Which he hasn't). This is an important signified that makes this survey confusing and I'm sure the results will reflect this.	2/10/2015 12:10 PM
14	Our home isn't eligible for bus but the Boys & Girls Club is, because of its location across 85th. We really appreciated having a bus to take our child directly there after school every day. While we are comfortable with him crossing N 80th, we would not feel as comfortable if he had to walk across N 85th, and the distance is too far for a child to reasonably walk to. At the high school level, we are glad that our daughter gets a bus pass to go to Roosevelt, but it we just barely qualified. The 2 mile radius for walking to high school is ridiculously too far with the terrain it covers and the arterials to cross.	2/10/2015 9:01 AM
15	We need a crossing guard before and after school at the crosswalk at 3rd and 81st. There was one 2 years ago and hasn't been one since. I would feel MUCH safer if there was a crossing guard at this location.	2/5/2015 5:14 PM
16	Would love it if someone organized walking or biking "buses."	2/4/2015 8:54 PM
17	Distance from the school (2 miles) deters walking to it. Bikes to school with parent once or twice a week during the the Spring months.	2/4/2015 9:01 AM

Safe Routes to School Survey for Greenwood Elementary

18	There needs to be a crossing guard at all times on 3rd and 80th. These are very busy streets and this is the only way that the kids have a chance at being safe. There should also be flashing lights indicating a school at least one block BEFORE the school. The current lights are in the middle of the block that the school is on.	1/30/2015 9:57 AM
19	Being able to walk to school is a great part of living in the city.	1/28/2015 9:11 PM
20	I look forward to the day when the nearby neighborhood kids can walk to school together without an adult along. I'm not sure if it's an age or safety issue but we make sure there's an adult with them each day at this point.	1/28/2015 11:20 AM
21	I wish there was a turn signal at the 3rd and 80th corner, cars are always in a hurry to turn here while the kids are crossing the street. I greatly appreciate the cross walk attendants!	1/28/2015 10:51 AM
22	I view walking to school as fairly safe from traffic, except for one intersection at 80th and 3rd. We now have a traffic safety person there which is fantastic. However in the past, I have seen (and heard about) several instances of cars turning left into the crosswalk when the lights were indicating walk for pedestrians. These cars only stopped because taller adults waved their arms and shouted. Many of us feel this intersection is a tragedy waiting to happen, if some shorter kids are walking across when they are supposed to, but without an adult, and a distracted driver watching for car traffic, does an unprotected left into the crosswalk area.	1/28/2015 9:03 AM
23	Our neighborhood could benefit from safer routes across Greenwood for younger children to get to Greenwood Elementary school.	1/28/2015 7:42 AM
24	The walk to/from school for our family is significant, 3/4mi each way AND we have to go up and over Phinney Ridge each way. I would love for my child to be able to walk to and from school more often, but my schedule doesn't always allow me to accompany him and I seriously doubt I will feel comfortable letting him do this alone before he finishes 5th grade (and thus exiting the school). I would love it if we could find other parents to form a walking school bus in our neighborhood so he could do it more often.	1/28/2015 7:30 AM
25	We're in a walk pool, which is groovy. But we're too far away for our daughter to walk on her own for quite some time, so a bus option would be good. I see busses all over this town and don't understand why we don't qualify for one.	1/27/2015 12:54 PM
26	Just that more kids should be doing it. Really the biggest threats to the safety of children are the distracted parents driving their kids. They are very selfish and not conscientious of other children making their way to school. They only care about their OWN kids getting to school. As someone who lives next to the school, it's hard for me to think of it as a good neighbor due to their behavior. I know my neighbors feel the same.	1/27/2015 10:45 AM
27	We have a parent lead "walking school bus" with clear departure times, assigned parents per day (2 minimum). We have ten children participating and it's great. I look forward to more organized groups and information to help our group stay together and educate the kids regarding safety. Thanks!	1/27/2015 10:24 AM
28	We need a crosswalk at 82nd and Greenwood to make our walk safer. There are 13 Greenwood Elementary School students on our 2 blocks of 82nd Street. Crossing Greenwood in the morning is dangerous	1/21/2015 8:38 PM
29	again - on previous page - I don't know anyone else who could reliably walk my children to school. I'm available to walk them to school (I like to think I'm trustworthy!). I had a hard time figuring out how to answer that question. If there was an organized walking school bus through our neighbourhood I would be all over that.	1/20/2015 9:17 AM
30	We need better crosswalks across Greenwood Avenue and 80th Ave. and third Avenue. I live across Greenwood Avenue on 82nd and there are limited crosswalks up at 80th and down at 84th and every time you cross it's very busy and when car stop they almost cause accidents from people running them from behind.	1/18/2015 12:27 PM
31	We live very close to our school so my son only has to cross one street and regularly walks on his own. If we lived further from the school or he had to cross more streets I would not let him walk on his own. I think walking/biking to school is very important for our community	1/18/2015 11:04 AM
32	The crossing guard on 80th is great. But my kid needs help crossing both 80th and 3rd. Worries me, so i don't send him alone. crossing guard only crosses on one...	1/15/2015 4:36 PM
33	On any given day I take 1 of 2-3 different routes in my car to drive my son to school so I have observed students and parents biking and walking to Greenwood. Crossing 80th is generally safest because of the crossing guards. anyone coming from east of Greenwood or north of 85th, really needs to take caution and cross at signaled crosswalks--even so, driver awareness of bikes and peds on 85th and on Greenwood is less than ideal.	1/15/2015 7:11 AM
34	We do not have sidewalks on our side of the street. We have to cross 3rd Ave NW to reach a sidewalk. Crossing the street to get to the sidewalk is the most dangerous part of our route to school. 3rd Ave has peak traffic at the same times that we are walking to and from school.	1/13/2015 9:38 PM
35	It is not safe for my child to walk to school without an adult	1/13/2015 8:55 PM

Safe Routes to School Survey for Greenwood Elementary

36	The crosswalk at NW 81st St & 3rd Ave NW is difficult to cross, even with the crosswalk. Traffic stopped at the light makes it difficult for drivers heading north to see that someone is in the crosswalk. Cars parked on the street make it difficult for drivers heading south and north to see pedestrians.	1/13/2015 4:50 PM
37	We need to cross Greenwood Avenue to get to school. The ONLY marked crosswalk south of school is at 80th, and walking along Greenwood and 80th is both unpleasant and dangerous. Cars go too fast on 80th. So we desperately need markings (flags, lights, signs or a marked crosswalk) to help us all cross Greenwood Ave. at 76th (where the bus stop is) or nearby. The marked bike route is along Fremont Ave. N. so all bikers coming from east of Greenwood Ave would use this. Then, they would realistically turn on 81st to connect directly with the school. This hill is also the most accommodating for bikes. However, there is no marking to help the bikers cross there or nearby-- they have to jog back to 80th which, again, feels unsafe with so much traffic. there should be marked crossings at either 81st or 82nd across Greenwood Ave.	1/13/2015 10:54 AM
38	we need safe crosswalks on Greenwood Ave other than at 80th (nearest lighted intersecion). kids cross to get to the library at 81st and have to dart across traffic. very dangerous!	1/13/2015 9:23 AM
39	We live outside of the Greenwood boundaries, so walking to school is not an option. It is a long bike ride and there are very major roads that need to be crossed. Given the distance and traffic, biking without an adult is not a safe option.	1/13/2015 6:35 AM
40	Biking/walking is safe enough with a parent, but not alone. Wish you would have distinguished that. Also, walking to his assigned bus stop (n of 85th w no sidewalks) would be no safer.	1/12/2015 10:42 PM
41	I would NOT allow my child to walk alone due to the traffic on NW 3rd Ave and lack of crossing guard	1/12/2015 7:33 PM
42	I walk my son to school - would not feel safe having him walk on his own without some type of adult supervision.	1/12/2015 11:29 AM
43	I think it is a wonderful idea. Although we live pretty far away, if there was an opportunity for the group of kids living in our neighborhood to participate perhaps once a week after school together, it could be looked upon as a social activity and exercise!	1/12/2015 11:05 AM
44	In the case of our neighborhood school, the entire district is no more than one half mile from the school. The entire district SHOULD be a walking zone, provided adequate pedestrian safety measures are provided. Of course, nearly half the district has no sidewalks so that is a challenge in itself. SPS should be one of the forces pressuring the city to expand its network of sidewalks for ALL residents, and especially its children.	1/12/2015 10:34 AM
45	We are not at our reference school meaning we live further away then most who attend our school	1/12/2015 10:07 AM
46	Encourage more of it.	1/12/2015 9:51 AM
47	The inconsistency of crossing guard availability is troubling -- it would be great if we KNEW there would be guards at 80th and 3rd NW as well as 80th and 1st NW every day.	1/12/2015 9:05 AM
48	It can be scary at time at the light on 80th and 3rd NW. People are driving to fast. We constantly see drivers running to red light. Several times there have been near misses of a child being hit by someone running the lights.	1/12/2015 8:13 AM
49	Traffic at our main intersection outside the school (80th and 3rd) is terrible with people speeding through turning red lights and cutting around turning cars. It is the greatest inhibitor to me ever letting my child walk alone to school. Many other parents at the school feel the same way. Aside from this the route is very safe.	1/11/2015 11:13 PM
